

Assignment #11

Due: Monday, January 24

1. Reproduce the document contained in pages 2–3 of this file. You will need to copy the text from the `nonsense.txt` file posted on Sakai to complete part of this assignment. Send me your `.tex` and `.pdf` files through the Drop Box.
2. You need to locate a piece of writing in a foreign language. Ideally, this would be something of yours from a class during the Fall 2010 semester. If that isn't possible for you, you need to find some foreign language text somewhere. (You do not need to understand that particular foreign language to complete this assignment. You can use work from a friend or from a foreign language textbook.)

Your assignment is to re-type this piece of foreign language text. I want your work to be single-spaced (the default in \LaTeX) and I want it to come out to at least three-quarters of a page. You need to round up enough text written in a foreign language to do this. Once again, the goal (in terms of formatting) is not necessarily to reproduce the document, but to make it look better. The formatting is up to you—make it look nice! Also, you must use the shortcuts we discussed during class when appropriate.

Please hand me a hard copy of this (stapled to a photocopy of the original) at 9:30 a.m. on Monday, January 24. Additionally, you must send me the appropriate `.tex` and `.pdf` files through the Drop Box by the same time.

1— Introduction

There are several packages to load for this document. In addition to our usual ones, I have used these packages:

[A] `multicol`;

[B] `titlesec`; and

[C] `hyperref`.

I used the `enumerate` environment above, changing the labels globally as we have discussed. I will use the `itemize` environment below, changing the labels on a case-by-case basis. You need to know a few other things too.

† My margins are all 0.8 inches wide.

★ I made some adjustments to the titles of the sections; specifically, they are italicized and right-justified. The size is changed a bit too. Can you figure out the new size?

I also tweaked the labels of the sections. I want you to see if you can figure out what my tweak is without me telling you.

In section 2 you will need the generic text which is posted with our homework assignment on Sakai.

And here is where the column fun begins. I have a vertical line between all columns of 0.5 pt thickness, and there is one-quarter inch of horizontal space between columns.
